Product Description:

It is a secondary instrument which can be used together with all kinds of flow meters. It can be used as normal flow totalizer,and it can do the flow's self-compensating and integrating. Adopt microprocessor control,increase the gauge's system stability and safety.

Function Features:

1. can calculate volume and flow automatically.

2.Can equpped with micro printer,print accumulative flow manually or automatically.

3. Can indicate transient flow and accumulative flow at the same time.

4. Can process temperature and pressure compensation automatically.

5. Can output 4~20MA signal according to transient flow for recorder or monitor use.

6.With power cut safeguard,also can operate automatically and save data for a long time.

7.Can set small flow signal cutting fuction.

8. Can set high and low limit for transient flow and output alarm and control signal.
